

The Fields of War run red with the blood of soldiers and civilians alike. Damages are seen and unseen. There is a heavy cost to War, which is rarely seen or understood in the civilian sector. The soldier coming out of the battle field can rarely relate these effects war to their families let alone their friends outside of the Military; let alone people on the street. This is even less erstood by the average American Citizan. ying, "WHat goes on in the e field. Unforigetlly, this is all American soldiers. The oing through things in li ack in the "Real World" (in) have not seen or expecanced, ption of the war-time vetern, noelse knows what is really going on. When a soldier returns from the front lines of battle (or even from behind the lines as support) Life and what goes on in life has a whole new meaning.

Soldiers seen things and expecance things in battle, which puts a whole new prestive on life. Something not easily expan A soldier is being shot at. Has very little sleep. Baths are few and far between. The is a whole lot of time of nothing to do, th very suddenly out of no-where they are be ing shot at, or a bomb as gone off. killing their friends and their "Buddies." Buddies are other soldiers, which they are suppose to look after, and visavera. Fire fights are ntense short, but seem like a life tim t and dry dui ht. No mat country and family. Things co be going on at home that does effect these soldiers. And, the list goes on and on. All these things affect a soldier emotionally, and mentally.

There are many causes of war. America has always been a country which historically comes to arms when there is a need and the American way of life is threatened. Unforgettably, this is very far and few times of war so, the next generation of warrior whom are the ones ending up in combat are ill prepared to deal with the real horrors of war. We train our soldiers to kill that is the first and foremost thing which is the training of soldiers. This goes beyond the job speciality for which a soldier is trained to do. An M-16 is placed in all soldier's hands in basic training. Even if they are going into the medical field.

In truth an good soldier doesn't want a war. One really does. The fact remains thought that wars are a part of the human excitable.

Did the soldier Bales do these war crimes or did someone else do them and Bales is being hung out to dry? Could Bales have had help if he was involved. Was this sanctioned by the military or even the unit. Things like this has and does happen in the Millary.

Why, are we really surprised by this. The Military keeps many things from the american people in the "Best intests of National Security," this is not a bad thing. But, sometimes it can be.

Since, the "War on Terror" has begun the Military has been offering up to the soldier enlistment bunouses to go back into combat or war zones. This is done knowing that (Post Traumatic Distress Disorder) formally called Combat fatigue is on the rise. History

Since, the "War on Torior" has begun the Military has been offering up to the soldier enlistment bunouses to go back into combat or war zones. This is done knowing that (Post Traumatic Distress Disorder) formally called Combat fatigue is on the rise. History had taught the Military Brass that Combat Fatigue can and does translate into broken lives in both the Military and civilian lives. Yet, they have pointedly inqunorded a growing problem. Back about 2001 or 2002 PTSD had become such a problem that there were even reports of soldiers committing suicide on the battlefield. This was and is a clear sign that there is a real problem out there which is being ignored by the Military. This is done to "conserve the fighting strength" but is the fighting strength of Our Armed Forces really being conserved.

This war is has a long history that really does date back to World War II. Surprised? Most american's

The affects of War run deep in the Human psyche. The experience of War includes watching as friends are killed, children killed, wounded or worse. Not Knowing if a civilian is going to shot at you or your friends. Patriotism is what brings the mondern-day soldier to the killing fields.

In truth an good soldier doesn't want a war. One really does. The fact remains thought that wars are a part of the human excitable.

Did the soldier Bales do these war crimes or did someone else do them and Bales is being hung out to dry? Could Bales have had help if he was involved. Was this sanctioned by the military or even the unit. Things like this has and does happen in the Millary.

Why, are we really surprised by this. The Military keeps many things from the american people in the "Best intests of National Security," this is not a bad thing. But, sometimes it can be.

Since, the "War on Torior" has begun the Military has been offering up to the soldier enlistment bunouses to go back into combat or war zones. This is done knowing that (Post Traumatic Distress Disorder) formally called Combat fatigue is on the rise. History had taught the Military Brass that Combat Fatigue can and does translate into broken lives in both the Military and civilian lives. Yet, they have pointedly inqunorded a growing problem. Back about 2001 or 2002 PTSD had become such a problem that there were even reports of soldiers committing suicide on the battlefield. This was and is a clear sign that there is a real problem out there which is being ignored by the Military. This is done to "conserve the fighting strength" but is the fighting strength of Our Armed Forces really being conserved.

This war is has a long history that really does date back to World War II. Surprised? Most american's would be, if they paid any attention to the causes of why Obama (no, not the President kind) has a regiouse ventdata against america. There were signs of this coming vendetta long before 9/11. 9/11 is what grabbed Our attention as a Nation. Why. Because for the first time we were cause with Our Pants Down as a Nation. ...

The American

In truth an good soldier doesn't want a war. One really does. The fact remains thought that wars are a part of the human excitable.

Did the soldier Bales do these war crimes or did someone else do them and Bales is being hung out to dry? Could Bales have had help if he was involved. Was this sanctioned by the military or even the unit. Things like this has and does happen in the Millary.

Why, are we really surprised by this. The Military keeps many things from the american people in the "Best intests of National Security," this is not a bad thing. But, sometimes it can be.

Since, the "War on Torior" has begun the Military has been offering up to the soldier enlistment bunouses to go back into combat or war zones. This is done knowing that (Post Traumatic Distress Disorder) formally called Combat fatigue is on the rise. History had taught the Military Brass that Combat Fatigue can and does translate into broken lives in both the Military and civilian lives. Yet, they have pointedly inqunorded a growing problem. Back about 2001 or 2002 PTSD had become such a problem that there were even reports of soldiers committing suicide on the battlefield. This was and is a clear sign that there is a real problem out there which is being ignored by the Military. This is done to "conserve the fighting strength" but is the fighting strength of Our Armed Forces really being conserved.

This war is has a long history that really does date back to World War II. Surprised? Most american's would be, if they paid any attention to the causes of why Obama (no, not the President kind) has a regiouse ventdata against america. There were signs of this coming vendetta long before 9/11. 9/11 is what grabbed Our attention as a Nation. Why. Because for the first time we were cause with Our Pants Down as a Nation. ...